END OF THE WAR APPROACHING.

London, May 2.—A Cape Town dispatch of April 15th says that Dubulmanzi, who led the attack on Gingleleva on the 3d inst., and other chiefs, with a large armed following, have proffered submission. Lord Chelmsford promised them personal safety and the possession of their cotton, but pending the war they should be located on British territory. John Dunn having pledged his word for their safety, the chiefs are expected in at once. The head of the intelligence department has moved forward from Greytown to meet the representatives from Cetewayo, but the sincerity of his proposal is suspected, and John Dunn has gone to Durban. His presence at headquarters is thought necessary to secure the submission of the chief. Everything portends an early peace. Meanwhile war operations are actively proceeding, and an advance on King Kraalzenis is certain from Col. Wood's direction, whether peace is offered or not. John Dunn, formerly Cetewayo's adviser, asserts that "Cettewayo's pride is broken. Before the war he regarded the British as useful neighbors, but contemptible in strength; and partly from good feeling and partly from incredulity of their ability to molest him, Cettewayo refused to molest us. Now he sees his mistake and provided he gets good terms personally, he will come in." Owing to the badness of the road the help of Makaar has been abandoned.

Dundee Natal is becoming a new base of operations for Col. (now Gen.) Wood's command. Universal hope is entertained that the resignation of Mr. Bartle Freere will not be accepted. As regards Lord Chelmsford, every kindly allowance is made for his conduct of the war, but public opinion remains as adverse as ever.

A dispatch from Lord Chelmsford announces the transfer of the headquarters of the staff to Utrecht. Col. Crealock commands the division of the army of the lower Tugela River, Gen. Newdigate supercedes Col. Wood. Cols. Pearson and Wood will command independent flying columns.

GREAT BRITAIN.

SPORTING.

London, May 2.—Betting is now against Parole for the Chester trade cup, 5 to 4. Lord Hettlands Flotsam, yesterday quoted at 3 to 1, has been scratched. Lord Flatmouth's Wheel of Fortune took the 1,000 guineas stakes to-day at Newmarket. Archer was the jockey. Abbage was second; Reconciliation third. There were eight starters. Distance, the Rowley mile. Betting was 2 to 1 on the winner. Lorillard's filleys were all scratched.

ENGLAND AND RUSSIA.

In the house of commons to-day Sir Stafford Northcote, chancellor of the exchequer, replying to Sir Robert Peel's question whether the government intends to take any action with reference to the repressive measures recently adopted in Russia, said he had not received any communication regarding matters and proceedings in Russia, that it was not the government's duty to interfere with the internal affairs of Russia, that the action of the government some years ago on representations made of the sufferings of political prisoners in Naples was based upon the treaty of Paris, and that there was no analogy between the Neapolitan affair and the present severities in Russia.

O'Gorman, member for Waterford City, violently attacked Russia and the British government, and was called to order.

TURKEY.

THE CZAR'S LETTER.

Constantinople, May 2.—The letter of the czar to the sultan is understood to be very friendly. The czar guarantees the complete execution of the conditions of the treaty of Berlin. Adjutant General O'Brutschuff will proceed shortly to Roumelia to inform the inhabitants of the czar's intentions to communicate his proclamation. The porte has opened negotiations with Russia regarding the transfer of the administration of Roumelia.

ST. LOUIS LOOSENESS.

The Grand Jury Bring Charges of Corruption Against Several High Officials.

St. Louis, May 1.—The grand jury, whose action during its long session has been the subject of much comment here, and who failed to obtain certain telegrams under subpœnas served on E. H. Brown, manager of the Western Union telegraph office, adjourned to-day. It made a final report to the circuit court. The report, written by J. B. McCullagh, editor of the Globe-Democrat, foreman of the jury, is long, elaborate and caustic. He says the jury found a chain of circumstantial evidence against J. C. Nedelet, late a member of the board of police commissioners, in connection with the Missouri lottery, but not definite enough for the jury to act upon; that Hon. C. Jones, late judge of the criminal court, while judge of that court frequently placed himself under pecuniary obligations to parties accused of crime before his court. That he was a frequent borrower of money from men, either defendants in criminal cases in his court, or well known to police as criminals. That some of these boasted of their influence in the criminal court and the evidence went to show that their boasts were not unfounded; that in one instance when two men were charged with crime, one who held Jones's unsecured note for $400 was acquitted under instructions of the court, while the other who was not a creditor of Jones was sent to the penitentiary. The report says what may be called the gambling interest has for many years been a source of corruption to the police department. Four years ago it bribed a chief of police with $1,000 to secure his removal. It has boasted of its power to control politics, and more than once it has exercised that power. This comes of the police board assuming to regulate what, under the law, it should suppress. It approved a bill now before the legislature to make gambling a felony, instead of misdemeanor, and recommends that the penalty be changed from fine, as now, to imprisonment. It also scores two judges of the court of criminal correction for receiving pay for taking bonds out of the court house, and exposed the very loose manner in which worthless bonds are taken in the name of the court. The report has caused more comment than any similar document for years.

Railroad Rumors.

Chicago, May 1.—The presence here of Wm. H. Vanderbilt, three sons, and other railroad magnates, and their proposed trip over the Northwestern Railroad, has revived the report that Vanderbilt has secured control of that great corporation of 2,150 miles of rail connection. The party started for Omaha this morning by a special train. It is stated in this connection that the present officials of the Northwestern Railroad will in any case be retained.

Off for Europe.

New York, May 1.—The wife of Secretary Sherman, their daughter, and Miss Denison, sailed for Europe to-day in the steamer Adriatic. The secretary and some friends of the family, in a revenue cutter, accompanied the tourists down the bay.

Base Ball.

Cincinnati, May 1.—Cincinnati, 7; Troy, 5.

Cleveland, May 1.—Cleveland, 4; Providence, 15.

Buffalo, May 1.—Boston, 5; Buffalo, 0.

Advance in Coal.

Philadelphia, May 1.—The Schuylkill Coal Exchange will make an advance of ten cents per ton upon April prices.

Obituary.

Philadelphia, May 1.—Mrs. Sarah J. B. Hale, for half a century editress of Godey's Lady's Book, died yesterday evening.

WASHINGTON.

Public Buildings.

Washington, May 2.—The house committee on expenditures in public buildings contemplates investigation into ascertaining the actual and necessary cost of the various public buildings of the United States.

Congressional.

SENATE.

Washington, May 2.—Mr. Johnston introduced a bill amendatory of the Texas Pacific Railway act so as take some of the lands granted it and invest them in the Southern Pacific Railway Company, and providing for the junction of the roads at El Paso. Referred.

The resolution of the committee on privileges and elections to investigate the claim of Spofford to Kellogg's seat was taken up.

Mr. Hoar offered a substitute declaring the action of the senate in seating Kellogg final and conclusive.

Without disposing of the matter, consideration was resumed of the bill to prevent the introduction in the United States of contagious or infectious diseases.

CRIME.

Murder by a Second Advent Enthusiast.

Boston, May 2.—Charles F. Freeman, of Pocassel, Mass., yesterday killed his five year old daughter. The man is a Second Adventist, and has been attending revival meetings. About a week ago he claimed to have received a wonderful revelation, and has not eaten or slept since. He says the Lord directed him to sacrifice his little daughter, and declares she will rise again in three days.

Yesterday morning he sent word to the neighbors that he would make the revelation known, and offer an orthodox sacrifice. In the afternoon a number of Second Adventists assembled at his house, but the child had then been killed. The little one was transfixed with a knife, and her blood poured out upon a table improvised as an altar.

Freeman has driven every one from the house, and locked and barred the doors and windows, and, having firearms, threatens death to any one who interferes. Alone with the dead child, he goes through horrible incantations, wich he says "will, in three days, result in the resurrection of my beloved child."

A Chicago Woman Who Didn't Miss Her Aim.

Chicago, May 1.—Last December Mrs. Ada Roberts filed a bill against Theo. B. Weber, member of a prominent wholesale boot and shoe firm here, charging Weber with seduction, and that he had promised to pay her eight percent on $5,000 during his life on condition that she would support their child and keep silence, and that Edmund Jussen his lawyer was appointed trustee of the bond, but that Weber had unaccountably stopped these payments. Weber filed an answer last month alleging that blackmail has been practiced, and confessing that certain sums had been extorted from him, but that the woman, having failed to keep silent, he had stopped the payments. This afternoon as Weber, Mrs. Roberts and Jussen were in the latter's office taking Weber's testimony, Mrs. Roberts suddenly drew a pistol and shot Weber in the abdomen. He was taken home bleeding inwardly, and the physicians pronounce his recovery impossible.

Bank Robbers Arrested.

St. Louis, May 2.—John Hood, John Olliver and another man, name withheld, were arrested here yesterday for robbing Scroggs & Sawyer's Bank at Mount Pulaski, Ills., on the night of the 28d of April.

CINCINNATI.

End of An Insurance Trial.

Cincinnati, May 2.—The great insurance trial which has been in progress for seven days before the United States court in this city, and in which Gov. Washburn, of Wisconsin, is plaintiff and the Western Insurance Company is defendant, resulted to-day in a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount claimed, after ten minutes' deliberation by the jury. This is the first of eight cases pending here, and involving the same questions of law and fact. The plaintiff was represented by Sage & Hinkle, and the defendant by T. D. Lincoln, John J. Follett and others, Lincoln and Follet speaking twelve hours. This litigation grew out of the fire at Minneapolis one year ago to-day, which resulted in the mill explosion and loss of life at that point.

Collieries Closed.

Pittston, Pa., May 1.—The Seneca and Twin collieries, operated by the Pittston and Elmira Coal Company at this place, have closed operations for an indefinite term. The reason is said to be that the company can buy coal cheaper at their selling points than they can mine and ship it. Seven hundred men and boys are thrown out of employment.

Suicide.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 2.—M. D. Vincent, of the firm of Vincent & Co., clothiers, recently sold out by a receiver, killed himself to-day. The absconding city treasurer was a member of the firm.

Memphis, Tenn., May 2.—Henry Axman, a butcher, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself.

It has boasted of its power to control politics, and more than once it has exercised that power, This comes of the police board assuming to regulate what, under the law, it should suppress. It approved a bill now before the legislature to make gambling a felony, instead of misdemeanor, and recommends that the penalty be changed from fine, as now, to imprisonment. It also scores two judges of the court of criminal correction for receiving pay for taking bonds out of the court house, and exposed the very loose manner in which worthless bonds are taken in the name of the court. The report has caused more comment than any similar document for years.

Railroad Rumors.

Chicago, May 1.—The presence here of Wm. H. Vanderbilt, three sons, and other railroad magnates, and their proposed trip over the Northwestern Railroad, has revived the report that Vanderbilt has secured control of that great corporation of 2,150 miles of rail connection. The party started for Omaha this morning by a special train. It is stated in this connection that the present officials of the Northwestern Railroad will in any case be retained.

Off for Europe.

New York, May 1.—The wife of Secretary Sherman, their daughter, and Miss Denison, sailed for Europe to-day in the steamer Adriatic. The secretary and some friends of the family, in a revenue cutter, accompanied the tourists down the bay.

WASHINGTON.

Public Buildings.

Washington, May 2.—The house committee on expenditures in public buildings contemplates investigation into ascertaining the actual and necessary cost of the various public buildings of the United States.

Congressional.

SENATE.

Washington, May 2.—Mr. Johnston introduced a bill amendatory of the Texas Pacific Railway act so as take some of the lands granted it and invest them in the Southern Pacific Railway Company, and providing for the junction of the roads at El Paso. Referred.

The resolution of the committee on privileges and elections to investigate the claim of Spofford to Kellogg's seat was taken up.

Mr. Hoar offered a substitute declaring the action of the senate in seating Kellogg final and conclusive.

Without disposing of the matter, consideration was resumed of the bill to prevent the introduction in the United States of contagious or infectious diseases.

CRIME.

Murder by a Second Advent Enthusiast.

Boston, May 2.—Charles F. Freeman, of Pocassel, Mass., yesterday killed his five year old daughter. The man is a Second Adventist, and has been attending revival meetings. About a week ago he claimed to have received a wonderful revelation, and has not eaten or slept since. He says the Lord directed him to sacrifice his little daughter, and declares she will rise again in three days.

Yesterday morning he sent word to the neighbors that he would make the revelation known, and offer an orthodox sacrifice. In the afternoon a number of Second Adventists assembled at his house, but the child had then been killed. The little one was transfixed with a knife, and her blood poured out upon a table improvised as an altar.

Freeman has driven every one from the house, and locked and barred the doors and windows, and, having firearms, threatens death to any one who interferes. Alone with the dead child, he goes through horrible incentations, wich he says "will, in three days, result in the resurrection of my beloved child."

A Chicago Woman Who Didn't Miss Her Aim.

Chicago, May 1.—Last December Mrs. Ada Roberts filed a bill against Theo. B. Weber, member of a prominent wholesale boot and shoe firm here, charging Weber with seduction, and that he had promised to pay her eight percent on $5,000 during his life on condition that she would support their child and keep silence, and that Edmund Jussen his lawyer was appointed trustee of the bond, but that Weber had unaccountably stopped these payments. Weber filed an answer last month alleging that blackmail has been practiced, and confessing that certain sums had been extorted from him, but that the woman, having failed to keep silent, he had stopped the payments. This afternoon as Weber, Mrs. Roberts and Jussen were in the latter's office taking Weber's testimony, Mrs. Roberts suddenly drew a pistol and shot Weber in the abdomen. He was taken home bleeding inwardly, and the physicians pronounce his recovery impossible.

Bank Robbers Arrested.

St. Louis, May 2.—John Hood, John Olliver and another man, name withheld, were arrested here yesterday for robbing Scroggs & Sawyer's Bank at Mount Pulaski, Ills., on the night of the 23d of April.

CINCINNATI.

End of An Insurance Trial.

Cincinnati, May 2.—The great insurance trial which has been in progress for seven days before the United States court in this city, and in which Gov. Washburn, of Wisconsin, is plaintiff and the Western Insurance Company is defendant, resulted to-day in a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount claimed, after ten minutes' deliberation by the jury. This is the first of eight cases pending here, and involving the same questions of law and fact. The plaintiff was represented by Sage & Hinkle, and the defendant by T. D. Lincoln, John J. Follett and others, Lincoln and Follet speaking twelve hours. This litigation grew out of the fire at Minneapolis one year ago to-day, which resulted in the mill explosion and loss of life at that point.

Collieries Closed.

Pittston, Pa., May 1.—The Seneca and Twin collieries, operated by the Pittston and Elmira Coal Company at this place, have closed operations for an indefinite term. The reason is said to be that the company can buy coal cheaper at their selling points than they can mine and ship it. Seven hundred men and boys are thrown out of employment.

Suicide.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 2.—M. D. Vincent, of the firm of Vincent & Co., clothiers, recently sold out by a receiver, killed himself to-day. The absconding city treasurer was a member of the firm.

Memphis, Tenn., May 2.—Henry Axman, a butcher, committed suicide this morning by hanging himself.

OFFICIAL PAPER—CITY AND COUNTY.

Fort Wayne, Friday. May 1, 1879.

THE board of water works trustees nominated by the democratic convention can never be elected. The people will be given a better ticket to vote.—Gazette.

Three better men than HENRY MONNING, CHAS. MCCULLOCH and CHRISTIAN BOSEKER were never placed before the people for their suffrages.

THE house yesterday refused to pass the army appropriation bill over the president's veto, failing to secure the required two thirds majority. The repeals contained in the bill should now be presented to him separately, placing the responsibility of acceptance or rejection with him. The temptation as well as the provocation is great, but congress should not adjourn without making all necessary appropriations to carry on the government. Let the issue that the president makes with the democratic party be submitted to the people.

MR. HENDRICKS in his letter to Senator MCDONALD denying the statement that he had written to members of the democratic party in Pennsylvania, favoring the nomination of the ticket of 1876 for 1880, says:

> I have written no such letter and have in no form expressed any such view. I did not, as is known, desire the nomination in 1876 as a candidate for the vice presidency, and do not think it would in any contingency be my duty again to accept a nomination for a position which I do not desire.

"Upon what meat has this our Cæsar fed,
That he is grown so great?"

Mr. HENDRICKS should know that the democratic party is not a party of hero worshippers. If he allows the use of his name in the national democratic convention then it will be his duty to accept the place assigned him by the convention whether it is the particular one he desires or not. The office should seek the man, not the man the office.

THE republicans will hold a convention to-night for the purpose of nominating city officers. According to our esteemed morning contemporary they will make no opposition whatever to Messrs. BARTON and TRENTMAN, which is a confession that they are unexceptionable in every respect, and that there would be no use of opposing them. For some unexplained reason, however, they propose to nominate a candidate for mayor against Col. ZOLLINGER. There can certainly be no fault found with him, either as an officer or a man. The Gazette says that Mr. GEO. H. WILSON will be nominated for mayor. We are free to say that Mr. WILSON is unexceptionable in every way, and that he enjoys the respect and confidence of all who know him, regardless of party. But Mr. WILSON himself will endorse Col. ZOLLINGER'S administration as warmly as any citizen of Fort Wayne, and we know that he will pronounce the opposition to the colonel the merest folly. Mr. WILSON undoubtedly realizes that despite all his well deserved popularity it will be impossible for him to come anywhere near Col. ZOLLINGER in the race.

OUR daily dispatches from St. Petersburg tell of a frightful state of affairs in Russia. In perusing these telegrams it is hard to imagine that we are actually living in the nineteenth century. The accounts of the reign of terror existing in the great northern empire read as if they were culled from the pages of some history of the dark ages. The Russian dynasty trembles from fear of the specter of nihilism which is stalking through the land, and has inaugurated and is executing despotic regulations which mark the very refinement of despotism and tyranny. It is evident that the days of the Alexandrian regime are over, and that it but needs a spark to cause an explosion which will substitute for the present reign of absolute monarchy, an era of anarchy and chaos. Proofs accumulate that the great mass of the Russian people are opposed to the empire and pine for liberty. The czar's life is in constant danger, and no one around him can be fully trusted. Treachery lurks in the court, and treason thrives in the camp. And it was the Russian government which, when it recently began its unjust war of extermination and conquest against Turkey, was lauded in America and Europe as the friend of progress, and liberty and enlightenment! Yet there has not been a day for centuries when there have not been more personal liberty and more toleration in Turkey than are allowed in Russia to-day.

THE Gazette prints an alleged interview with an alleged prominent democrat, in which interview the alleged prominent democrat is alleged to have said some unpretty things about the SENTINEL. The interview probably never took place; or if it did the interviewee was not a very prominent democrat; or if he is it is a matter of no consequence anyway. The proprietors of the SENTINEL don't expect to be able to print a paper that will please everybody, and shall not make the attempt. It is not impossible that even prominent democrats may criticise the SENTINEL occasionally, which it is their perfect right to do, and with which we find no fault. One thing of course they will bear in mind, that the SENTINEL has as good a right to criticise them as they have to criticise the SENTINEL, and they must not complain if the SENTINEL exercises that right. We only refer to the matter now to say that the SENTINEL is not run for the purpose of advancing the political fortunes of any congressional aspirant or of a candidate for any office whatever; that it is not the organ of any clique or faction; that it expects to speak its mind freely when, in its opinion, the good of the party or of the public requires it; and it is possible that such plain speaking may not be relished; and finally that the SENTINEL is controlled by its proprietors and is run for their benefit, with a view also to the promotion of the best interests of the democratic party and of the public in general. For the benefit of some gentlemen who have displayed uncommon concern about the SENTINEL under its new management, we will say that it is doing pretty well, thank you; that its circulation is increasing with a rapidity unprecedented in the history of Fort Wayne journalism, and that the proprietors have every reason to be well satisfied with the prospects.

While the tramp relies upon general philosophy or levies blackmail upon society through the instrumentality of the poor law, the loose-man limits his operations to a comparatively small circle, composed for the most part of his own relations, friends and acquaintances, and trusts to a variety of mixed motives, like family affection, old friendship, compassion, and, above all, the difficulty which perhaps nine people out of ten experience in meeting a sponging application with a plump refusal.—Cornhill Magazine.

The New York Sun has the following: "A strange story comes from the sleepy old town of Bristol, R. I., where rich retired sea captains dream of the days when Indiamen lay at wharves now rotting and crumbling. John B. Pearce, postmaster of Bristol, lives with his wife in a cottage. They have no children and no servants. Mr. Pearce has been annoyed for some time by a woman with whom he was once unfortunately connected. On Sunday last a Providence newspaper contained a notice of the scandal. On Tuesday morning Mrs. Pearce sent for a neighbor who lived near by. Mr. Pearce was standing in his dining-room, his face covered with blood. He had been shot near the left eye and the ball had passed through the skull and lodged in the forehead near the right eye. Mr. Pearce professed not to know how or by whom the shooting had been done. He said that he must have been asleep at the time. He acknowledged that he owned the revolver from which the bullet had been discharged. Mrs. Pearce also declared that she knew nothing about the shooting. She said that she had risen before her husband, as was her custom, to attend to some household duties, and was first made aware of the tragedy when her husband came down stairs. The wound may prove fatal. There is much diversity of opinion as to whether the case is one of intended suicide or of attempted murder. If Mr. Pearce did try to kill himself it is his plain duty, in justice to his wife, to acknowledge the fact."

THE "SENTINEL."

Change in the Proprietorship—Some Early Reminiscences.

[Huntington Herald.]

The Fort Wayne SENTINEL was recently sold to Messrs. W. R. Nelson and Samuel E. Morss. The latter gentleman has had some very good schooling in the newspaper business, and during the last two or three years has had entire charge of the editorial department of the SENTINEL. He has succeeded in making a good paper, and to-day the SENTINEL is the leading democratic journal in northern Indiana. The establishment, properly managed, is splendid property, and we hope the new proprietors will realize their highest hopes in achieving a handsome competency.

The Fort Wayne SENTINEL was started about five years after the writer of this article was born—to celebrate the event, as it were! In 1843, while an apprentice in the office of the Post, at Somerset, O., we had an uncle residing in the vicinity of Huntington, who, in numerous letters, urged us when we had "finished our trade," to come to Huntington and "start a paper." As an inducement, he occasionally sent us a copy of the SENTINEL, just to show us that even at that early day the upper Wabash and Little River regions were not without the bounds of civilization. The SENTINEL of that day does not very much resemble the one of the present.

The inducements held out to us and the impressions made at that early period in our life increased with years, and when we had fully "served our time," "joured" it for nine months, and attended school about a year, we started overland for this place with a view of carrying out plans formed years before. After much hard labor, and encountering difficulties of the worst character, we issued the first number of the Herald in July, 1848.

Some two years before coming to this place, our uncle, James Moore, who owned the farm now occupied by Martin Ertle, on the Mishler road, had become discouraged, sold out, and removed to Iowa, where he sickened and died.

Such is a brief outline of our first knowledge of the Fort Wayne SENTINEL, as well as the way we came to be in Huntington at the present time. It is, perhaps, scarcely necessary to add that we have had some pleasant as well as some very bitter experience with the world in these long years.

Frothingham.

[New York Letter in Indianapolis News.]

On Tuesday night there was a grand reception at the Union League Club to say good-bye to Mr. O. B. Frothingham, who leaves in a few days for Europe. Of course the orthodox clergy stayed carefully away; for no man has done more in a quiet way to unsettle beliefs and make trouble in churches than he. Mr. F. is a man of large private wealth, who preaches his humanitarian philosophy for the pleasure of doing so. He believes in disbeleiving, and his sermons are mostly strings of negatives. The Christian at Work said good bye to him a few days ago in a sad strain, and hoped that his rest in foreign lands may not be disturbed by the recollections of the many persons whose religious beliefs he has unsettled without giving them anything in the way of a substitute. It may be said here, however, that those persons whose beliefs Mr. Frothingham had unsettled would have no little difficulty, probably, in making out what their previous beliefs had been, if they had any at all. For the past twenty years he has been preaching without pay, and never in a church; for he considered it wrong that any building should be used only on Sunday and lie idle during the whole week. He belongs to no sect. His services begin with singing, a little reading from some book, sometimes from the Bible, but quite as possibly from the Hindoo philosophers or from a novel; then comes the prayer, which, say the orthodox newspapers, is a petition to an unknown god, whose existence is to Frothingham largely a matter of doubt; most of Frothingham's hearers are firm believers in nothing, and he prays because it can do no harm and may possibly do some good. Then comes the sermon, which is usually full of interest and about an hour long. His congregation is about eight hundred strong; many are Jews and all are advanced thinkers; there is a goodly sprinkling of long haired men and short haired women.

Beecher.

[Chicago Tribune.]

The day that Col. Ingersoll criticised his reviewers in this city, Mr. Beecher hit hard at one phase of orthodox belief in his pulpit in Brooklyn. He said: "To say that God piled all the sins of the world upon His own Son, and that those who committed them should henceforth not suffer for them—this is heathenism run mad, a folly so profound that a man stands aghast to think of it. He bears our sins as a mother bears the sins of her child, that I believe."

IT IS WORTH A TRIAL.

"I was troubled for many years with kidney complaint, gravel, etc.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about, and was an old worn-out man all over, and could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of 30, although I am 72, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth the trial."—(Father.)

A smart gentleman by the name of Williams, over at Zainesville, Allen county, has accomplished the wonderful, by exposing Free Masonry. The fate of John Morgan has no terrors for the Rev. Williams, so he says. He is a deuce spot, sure, and will create a sensation yet.

Cuticura

REMEDIES.

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever performed before by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements, with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching and Irritating Humors, speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great bodies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

SALT RHEUM FOR 30 YEARS

On the Head, Face, and the Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good physicans, all of which did me no good, and came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping this may be seen by some one afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases. Yours truly,
B. WILSON LORD.

Agawama, Mass., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTACURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miricle, Astonishing Results from the Use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTIremedies. The county had employed all of our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. He had not had his clothes on during this time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked there would at least one quart of scales come off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not say he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly, DUNNING BROTHERS,
Druggists and Booksellers.

Alegan, Mich., Feb. 11, 1879.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all druggists and dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER

BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER

MANUFACTURERS AWARDED THE ONLY MEDALS AT CENTENNIAL 1876. AT PARIS EXPOSITION 1878. GIVEN FOR RUBBER PLASTERS.

FOR LAME BACK, Weak Back, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, Stubborn and Neglected Coughs and Colds, Female Weakness, and all local Aches and Pains, it is specially recommended.

At no time in the history of medicine has an article appeared which has met with greater approval and success than Benson's Capcine Plaster. Why they are preferred to all other porous plasters, is owing to their improved composition; they act instantaneously, cure speedily and effectually.

Physicians and the general public who acknowledge the great benefits derived from the use of the ordinary porous plasters, however, maintain that their action is not sufficiently prompt, requiring time, patience, and continuous wear to effect a cure. Benson's Capcine Plaster overcomes this difficulty by accomplishing in a few hours, that which it takes any other plaster as many days.

Although a recent invention Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster has been thor'ughly tested by physicians, and has been pronounced the most thoroughly efficacious plaster ever devised.

Its marvellous influence over the circulation, and general effect on the system is almost incredible; from the moment of its application to the affected part, it operates with astonishing vigor—brings relief and cures more effectually than any Plaster Liniment or Compound.

When you desire prompt relief, ask your druggist for Benson's Capcine Plaster. Avoid worthless plasters having a similar sounding name. Each genuine plaster has the word Capcine spelled C-A-P-C-I-N-E. Sold by all druggists, Price, 25 cents.

OFFICIAL PAPER—CITY AND COUNTY.

Fort Wayne, Friday. May 1, 1879.

THE board of water works trustees nominated by the democratic convention can never be elected. The people will be given a better ticket to vote.—Gazette.

Three better men than HENRY MONNING, CHAS. MCCULLOCH and CHRISTIAN BOSEKER were never placed before the people for their suffrages.

THE house yesterday refused to pass the army appropriation bill over the president's veto, failing to secure the required two thirds majority. The repeals contained in the bill should now be presented to him separately, placing the responsibility of acceptance or rejection with him. The temptation as well as the provocation is great, but congress should not adjourn without making all necessary appropriations to carry on the government. Let the issue that the president makes with the democratic party be submitted to the people.

MR. HENDRICKS in his letter to Senator MCDONALD denying the statement that he had written to members of the democratic party in Pennsylvania, favoring the nomination of the ticket of 1876 for 1880, says:

> I have written no such letter and have in no form expressed any such view. I did not, as is known, desire the nomination in 1876 as a candidate for the vice presidency, and do not think it would in any contingency be my duty again to accept a nomination for a position which I do not desire.

"Upon what meat has this our Cæsar fed,
That he is grown so great?"

Mr. HENDRICKS should know that the democratic party is not a party of hero worshippers. If he allows the use of his name in the national democratic convention then it will be his duty to accept the place assigned him by the convention whether it is the particular one he desires or not. The office should seek the man, not the man the office.

THE republicans will hold a convention to-night for the purpose of nominating city officers. According to our esteemed morning contemporary they will make no opposition whatever to Messrs. BARTON and TRENTMAN, which is a confession that they are unexceptionable in every respect, and that there would be no use of opposing them. For some unexplained reason, however, they propose to nominate a candidate for mayor against Col. ZOLLINGER. There can certainly be no fault found with him, either as an officer or a man. The Gazette says that Mr. GEO. H. WILSON will be nominated for mayor. We are free to say that Mr. WILSON is unexceptionable in every way, and that he enjoys the respect and confidence of all who know him, regardless of party. But Mr. WILSON himself will endorse Col. ZOLLINGER's administration as warmly as any citizen of Fort Wayne, and we know that he will pronounce the opposition to the colonel the merest folly. Mr. WILSON undoubtedly realizes that despite all his well deserved popularity it will be impossible for him to come anywhere near Col. ZOLLINGER in the race.

OUR daily dispatches from St. Petersburg tell of a frightful state of affairs in Russia. In perusing these telegrams it is hard to imagine that we are actually living in the nineteenth century. The accounts of the reign of terror existing in the great northern empire read as if they were culled from the pages of some history of the dark ages. The Russian dynasty trembles from fear of the specter of nihilism which is stalking through the land, and has inaugurated and is executing despotic regulations which mark the very refinement of despotism and tyranny. It is evident that the days of the Alexandrian regime are over, and that it but needs a spark to cause an explosion which will substitute for the present reign of absolute monarchy, an era of anarchy and chaos. Proofs accumulate that the great mass of the Russian people are opposed to the empire and pine for liberty. The czar's life is in constant danger, and no one around him can be fully trusted. Treachery lurks in the court, and treason thrives in the camp. And it was the Russian government which, when it recently began its unjust war of extermination and conquest against Turkey, was lauded in America and Europe as the friend of progress, and liberty and enlightenment! Yet there has not been a day for centuries when there have not been more personal liberty and more toleration in Turkey than are allowed in Russia to-day.

THE Gazette prints an alleged interview with an alleged prominent democrat, in which interview the alleged prominent democrat is alleged to have said some unpretty things about the SENTINEL. The interview probably never took place; or if it did the interviewee was not a very prominent democrat; or if he is it is a matter of no consequence anyway. The proprietors of the SENTINEL don't expect to be able to print a paper that will please everybody, and shall not make the attempt. It is not impossible that even prominent democrats may criticise the SENTINEL occasionally, which it is their perfect right to do, and with which we find no fault. One thing of course they will bear in mind, that the SENTINEL has as good a right to criticise them as they have to criticise the SENTINEL, and they must not complain if the SENTINEL exercises that right. We only refer to the matter now to say that the SENTINEL is not run for the purpose of advancing the political fortunes of any congressional aspirant or of a candidate for any office whatever; that it is not the organ of any clique or faction; that it expects to speak its mind freely when, in its opinion, the good of the party or of the public requires it; and it is possible that such plain speaking may not be relished; and finally that the SENTINEL is controlled by its proprietors and is run for their benefit, with a view also to the promotion of the best interests of the democratic party and of the public in general. For the benefit of some gentlemen who have displayed uncommon concern about the SENTINEL under its new management, we will say that it is doing pretty well, thank you; that its circulation is increasing with a rapidity unprecedented in the history of Fort Wayne journalism, and that the proprietors have every reason to be well satisfied with the prospects.

While the tramp relies upon general philosophy or levies blackmail upon society through the instrumentality of the poor law, the loose man limits his operations to a comparatively small circle, composed for the most part of his own relations, friends and acquaintances, and trusts to a variety of mixed motives, like family affection, old friendship, compassion, and, above all, the difficulty which perhaps nine people out of ten experience in meeting a sponging application with a plump refusal.—Cornhill Magazine.

The New York Sun has the following: "A strange story comes from the sleepy old town of Bristol, R. I., where rich retired sea captains dream of the days when Indiamen lay at wharves now rotting and crumbling. John B. Pearce, postmaster of Bristol, lives with his wife in a cottage. They have no children and no servants. Mr. Pearce has been annoyed for some time by a woman with whom he was once unfortunately connected. On Sunday last a Providence newspaper contained a notice of the scandal. On Tuesday morning Mrs. Pearce sent for a neighbor who lived near by. Mr. Pearce was standing in his dining-room, his face covered with blood. He had been shot near the left eye and the ball had passed through the skull and lodged in the forehead near the right eye. Mr. Pearce professed not to know how or by whom the shooting had been done. He said that he must have been asleep at the time. He acknowledged that he owned the revolver from which the bullet had been discharged. Mrs. Pearce also declared that she knew nothing about the shooting. She said that she had risen before her husband, as was her custom, to attend to some household duties, and was first made aware of the tragedy when her husband came down stairs. The wound may prove fatal. There is much diversity of opinion as to whether the case is one of intended suicide or of attempted murder. If Mr. Pearce did try to kill himself it is his plain duty, in justice to his wife, to acknowledge the fact."

THE "SENTINEL."

Change in the Proprietorship—Some Early Reminisences.

[Huntington Herald.]

The Fort Wayne SENTINEL was recently sold to Messrs. W. R. Nelson and Samuel E. Morss. The latter gentleman has had some very good schooling in the newspaper business, and during the last two or three years has had entire charge of the editorial department of the SENTINEL. He has succeeded in making a good paper, and to-day the SENTINEL is the leading democratic journal in northern Indiana. The establishment, properly managed, is splendid property, and we hope the new proprietors will realize their highest hopes in achieving a handsome competency.

The Fort Wayne SENTINEL was started about five years after the writer of this article was born—to celebrate the event, as it were! In 1843, while an apprentice in the office of the Post, at Somerset, O., we had an uncle residing in the vicinity of Huntington, who, in numerous letters, urged us when we had "finished our trade," to come to Huntington and "start a paper." As an inducement, he occasionally sent us a copy of the SENTINEL, just to show us that even at that early day the upper Wabash and Little River regions were not without the bounds of civilization. The SENTINEL of that day does not very much resemble the one of the present.

The inducements held out to us and the impressions made at that early period in our life increased with years, and when we had fully "served our time," "joured" it for nine months, and attended school about a year, we started overland for this place with a view of carrying out plans formed years before. After much hard labor, and encountering difficulties of the worst character, we issued the first number of the Herald in July, 1848.

Some two years before coming to this place, our uncle, James Moore, who owned the farm now occupied by Martin Ertle, on the Mishler road, had become discouraged, sold out, and removed to Iowa, where he sickened and died.

Such is a brief outline of our first knowledge of the Fort Wayne SENTINEL, as well as the way we came to be in Huntington at the present time. It is, perhaps, scarcely necessary to add that we have had some pleasant as well as some very bitter experience with the world in these long years.

Frothingham.

[New York Letter in Indianapolis News.]

On Tuesday night there was a grand reception at the Union League Club to say good-bye to Mr. O. B. Frothingham, who leaves in a few days for Europe. Of course the orthodox clergy stayed carefully away; for no man has done more in a quiet way to unsettle beliefs and make trouble in churches than he. Mr. F. is a man of large private wealth, who preaches his humanitarian philosophy for the pleasure of doing so. He believes in disbeleiving, and his sermons are mostly strings of negatives. The Christian at Work said good bye to him a few days ago in a sad strain, and haped that his rest in foreign lands may not be disturbed by the recollections of the many persons whose religious beliefs he has unsettled without giving them anything in the way of a substitute. It may be said here, however, that those persons whose beliefs Mr. Frothingham had unsettled would have no little difficulty, probably, in making out what their previous beliefs had been, if they had any at all. For the past twenty years he has been preaching without pay, and never in a church; for he considered it wrong that any building should be used only on Sunday and lie idle during the whole week. He belongs to no sect. His services begin with singing, a little reading from some book, sometimes from the Bible, but quite as possibly from the Hindoo philosophers or from a novel; then comes the prayer, which, say the orthodox newspapers, is a petition to an undnown god, whose existence is to Frothingham largely a matter of doubt; most of Frothingham's hearers are firm believers in nothing, and he prays because it can do no harm and may possibly do some good. Then comes the sermon, which is usually full of interest and about an hour long. His congregation is about eight hundred strong; many are Jews and all are advanced thinkers; there is a goodly sprinkling of long haired men and short haired women.

Beecher.

[Chicago Tribune.]

The day that Col. Ingersoll criticised his reviewers in this city, Mr. Beecher hit hard at one phase of orthodox belief in his pulpit in Brooklyn. He said: "To say that God piled all the sins of the world upon His own Son, and that those who committed them should henceforth not suffer for them—this is heathenism run mad, a folly so profound that a man stands aghast to think of it. He bears our sins as a mother bears the sins of her child, that I believe."

IT IS WORTH A TRIAL.

"I was troubled for many years with kidney complaint, gravel, etc.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about, and was an old worn-out man all over, and could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of 30, although I am 72, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth the trial."—(Father.)

An Exposer of Masonry.

[Huntington Democrat.]

A smart gentleman by the name of Williams, over at Zainesville, Allen county, has accomplished the wonderful, by exposing Free Masonry. The fate of John Morgan has no terrors for the Rev. Williams, so he says. He is a deuce spot, sure, and will create a sensation yet.

Cuticura
REMEDIES.
Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime, by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, are more wonderful than any ever performed before by any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements, with which these vessels have been daily charged.

CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growths which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching and Irritating Humors, speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great bodies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

On the Head, Face, and the Greater Part of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen—I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good physicians, all of which did me no good, and came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of CUTICURA. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping this may be seen by some one afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases. Yours truly,
B. WILSON LORD.
Agawama, Mass., Sept. 9, 1878.

The CUTACURA SOAP should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the skin.

LEPROSY.
A Modern Miricle. Astonishing Results from the Use of CUTICURA.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your CUTICURA remedies. The county had employed all of our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the CUTICURA and immediately began getting better.

He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. He had not had his clothes on during this time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked there would at least one quart of scales come off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not say he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least. Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS,
Druggists and Booksellers.
Alegan, Mich., Feb. 11, 1879.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this CUTICURA will permanently cure this very severe case of Leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all druggists and dealers. Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one half times the quantity of small, $1. RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; three cakes, 75 cents.

Weak Back, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, Stubborn and Neglected Coughs and Colds, Female Weakness, and all local Aches and Pains, it is specially recommended.

At no time in the history of medicine has an article appeared which has met with greater approval and success than Benson's Capcine Plaster. Why they are preferred to all other porous plasters, is owing to their improved composition; they act instantaneously, cure speedily and effectually.

Physicians and the general public who acknowledge the great benefits derived from the use of the ordinary porous plasters, however, maintain that their action is not sufficiently prompt, requiring time, patience, and continuous wear to effect a cure. Benson's Capcine Plaster overcomes this difficulty by accomplishing in a few hours, that which it takes any other plaster as many days.

Although a recent invention Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster has been thor'ughly tested by physicians, and has been pronounced the most thoroughly efficacious plaster ever devised.

Its marvellous influence over the circulation, and general effect on the system is almost incredible; from the moment of its application to the affected part, it operates with astonishing vigor—brings relief and cures more effectually than any Plaster Liniment or Compound.

When you desire prompt relief, ask your druggist for Benson's Capcine Plaster. Avoid worthless plasters having a similar sounding name. Each genuine plaster has the word Capcine spelled C-A-P-C-I-N-E Sold by all druggists, Price, 25 cents.

TUTT'S PILLS!

A NOTED DIVINE SAYS THEY ARE WORTH THEIR WEIGHT in GOLD

READ WHAT HE SAYS:

DR. TUTT:—Dear Sir: For ten years I have been a martyr to Dyspepsia, Constipation and Piles. Last Spring your Pills were recommended to me; I used them (but with little faith). I am now a well man, have good appetite, digestion perfect, regular stools, piles gone, and I have gained forty pounds solid flesh. They are worth their weight in gold.

REV. R. L. SIMPSON, Louisville, Ky.

A TORPID LIVER

is the fruitful source of many diseases, such as Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Dysentery, Bilious Fever, Ague and Fever, Jaundice, Piles, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, Colic, etc.

Tutt's Pills exert a powerful influence on the Liver, and will with certainty relieve that important organ from disease, and restore its normal functions.

The rapidity with which persons take on flesh, while under the influence of these pills, of itself indicates their adaptability to nourish the body, hence their efficacy in curing nervous debility, dyspepsia, wasting of the muscles, sluggishness of the liver, chronic constipation, and imparting health and strength to the system.

CONSTIPATION.

Only with regularity of the bowels can perfect health be enjoyed. When the constipation is of recent date, a single dose of TUTT'S PILLS will suffice, but if it has become habitual, one pill should be taken every night, gradually lessening the frequency of the dose until a regular daily movement is obtained, which will soon follow.

EDISON'S LIGHT.

What the Menlo Park Inventor Has Secured to Himself in the Two Patents Issued—The English Inventions.

[Special to the New York Herald.

Washington, April 25.—Edison's experiments in the creation and control of electric light took legal form and effect day before yesterday, when his patent papers for two kinds of electric lamps, both broadly being the same in principle and operation, were issued from the United States patent office. The first and most important of the two applications was filed October 15th, 1878. As usual with inventors, Edison claimed broadly in his first application the whole principle of governing the amount of current circulating in electric lamps for the purpose of modifying light. This covered all classes of electric lamps and gave Edison a claim for originality of invention, not only to a thermostatic regulator as a means of governing the circuit in a continuously incandescent conductor lamp, but also for governing the amount of current passing in a carbon arc lamp, a variety of lamps which he had held to be practically useless.

A CLAM REJECTED.

The claim for a thermostatic regulator for the latter class of lamps was rejected on October 31st, reference being cited to Alman's English patent of September, 1848. The subject matter of the patent cited as reference against Edison's broad claim was a thermostatic regulator for governing the movement of carbon points, and not for regulating the amount of current flowing over an incandescent light-giving body.

THE ENGLISH PATENT.

The regulator shown in the English patent consisted of a bar composed of two different metals, one of which has a greater capacity for expansion and contraction than the other, whereby this compound metal bar, when it is affected by the heat of the lamp, causes one of the carbon points to which it is attached, to be moved to a greater or less distance from the other carbon point. By this means the points are held at variable distances from each other and thereby greater space between them is obtained, which space affords a means of regulating the amount of current passing. The space between the carbon points affords a break in the electric circuit, and consequently if this break be increased or diminished the amount of current flowing will be inversely proportional to the resistance in the circuit. Therefore the hermostatic regulator, as applied to carbon arc lamps, was fully covered by this English patent, but was unlike in nature and means to the one employed by Edison.

EFFECT OF THE REJECTION.

The rejection of this claim, which is the only adverse action taken by the patent office upon either of these cases, appears, however, not to have affected his interests, experiments or expectations in the slightest degree, as he seems to have proceeded in his researches upon the theory that there was no utility in the carbon arc lamp, and he, therefore, made no effort to retain his claim, but modified his specification so as to yield the point in relation to a thermostatic regulator for carbon arc lamps. The carbon arc lamp is the oldest and most numerous class of electric lamps known. Light results in this class of lamps by the passage of an electrical current from one carbon point to another, the points being a short distance apart.

INCANDESCENT LAMPS.

The incandescent kind of lamps, which Edison shows and with which he deals exclusively, consists merely of a small metallic body, either as wire or thin sheets, which offer high resistance to the passage of the current of electricity. They are placed directly in said current and made a part of the circuit. By passing the current through the lamp it produces incandescence in the strips or wire, thereby furnishing a light-giving source.

EDISON'S SPECIALTY.

There has been a great many experiments and a number of English and American patents upon this class of lamps. Therefore it is not the lamp upon which Edison claims and receives his patent as original inventor, but upon the thermostatic regulator which is to control the flow of current by increasing or decreasing its volume through the wire or metal strips which are the light-giving body; but as the amount of current increases the light-giving body becomes more highly heated and expands a metal bar from which is suspended a switch lever. By a proper degree of heat this bar will become elongated by a predetermined degree of heat until it comes in contact with a metal point, thereby making a short circuit around the light-giving body. This short circuit, thus created, assumes the burden of the current of electricity when it becomes excessive and when sufficient to destroy or injure the lamp. This short circuit, automatically made by the heat of the lamp, is claimed by the inventor as the vital feature of the regulator, and, if successfully adopted by minor details, will, very likely, fulfill the expectations of Edison. The broad subject matter of the invention consists, then, in the incandescent conductor and a thermostatic regulator, and this claim is based upon the lamp above described.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE LAMP.

Edison, however, finds it expedient in adopting his new invention to modify the construction of the lamp which is above described by employing, instead of an expansive metal bar for operating the switch in the short circuit as an automatic regulator, the expansion of air within a sealed globe containing the light. The expansion of the air within the globe operating to press out the diaphragm situated in the bottom of the lamp, when the diaphragm is sufficiently expanded or pressed down by the rarified air in the globe a point on the under side of the diaphragm comes in contact with a stationary metallic point, thereby producing a short circuit to carry the burden of the current in case of an excessive amount, which produces exactly the same result as though the metallic bar instead of the glass globe were used.

It is understood that the construction of Edison's lamp and regulator is as complete as he expects to make it for some time, and that he is now turning his attention to the consideration of a magneto-electric machine which shall generate the amount of electricity required to make his lamp useful for practical and extended operation. If, however, he should desire to test to any extent the value of his invention as a useful illuminating power he will not necessarily have to wait for a machine of his own which shall be sufficient for the purpose of generating the electrical power desired. There are a large number of machines competent for that purpose. In fact, there are few subdivisions in the class of electricity in the patent office so complete and valuable as in magneto-electrical generating machines. Those of Gramme, Brush, Weston and Fuller are especially valuable and competent machines for that purpose, and of demonstrated merit.

NELLIE GRIMES'S DEATH.

Sliding Down Balusters for Eighteen Years and Falling off at Last.

[New York Sun.]

The six story commercial building at 133 Nassau street has a continuous stair case around four sides of a square. The balustrade is also continuous, and is rounded at the corners. The janitress, a widow, Mrs. Grimes, and her five children, lived in rooms in the topmost story. Nellie was over five years old when her mother moved into the building eighteen years ago. She soon began sliding down the balusters. Her mother tried to dissuade her, but the girl persisted until she was as much at home on the balusters as on the stairs. She laughed at every suggestion of danger. Springing at full length upon the baluster, her feet downward, her hand on the slippery rail, she shot down like a flash. Year after year she slid down stairs until Saturday last, Mrs. Grimes started with Nellie to go down stairs from the top story. Nellie both slid and walked until the two had arrived at the top of the second story. Mrs. Grimes had just said, "Now, Nellie, dear, I wish you would not do that. You'll get hurt some time." But the girl mischievously sprang upon the balusters, and, sliding a short distance, lost her poise, and, with a shriek, toppled over and fell with a heavy thug. She was picked up unconscious, and on Sunday she died. She was buried yesterday. She was twenty-three years and six months of age.

SALE OF A CITY

Altoona, Pa., With Its Inhabitants, Likely to Be Knocked Down to the Highest Bidder for Indebtedness to the State.

[Inter-Ocean.]

The city of Altoona, in Blair county, Pa., is indebted to the state for corporation taxes amounting to $4,206.10. Proceedings against the city would have been begun some time ago but for the intervention of the attorney general. The state has a judment for the amount of the debt, and the authorities of the city were notified that unless the judgment was satisfied by to-day the city would be sold. There is no money at all in the city treasury, and no means of raising any, and Altoona, with its 20,000 inhabitants, will probably be knocked down to the highest bidder in a day or two.

Does Death End All?

To the Editor of the Sentinel:

Your correspondent "M." propounds the question, "Upon what rational grounds the belief in immortality can be held, aside from the historical evidence of the resurrection of Christ?"

It would not be fair to occupy so much of the space of a secular newspaper as an adequate reply requires. However, it may be suggested that the scientific fact of the indestructibility of matter (as distinguished from forms of matter) creates a presumption in favor of immortality. Again, science teaches that man has been a million years on the earth, and that it will be millions of years ere the sun's heat declines so as to render the continuance of the higher animal life on this planet impossible. By adding the past and future together, we find that the chain of human life, although not everlasting, is yet so very long as to be practically so. To exist for 10,000,000 years ought to satisfy any aspiration after immortality. But, in this sense, it is not the individual man, but rather mankind collectively, that is immortal. Every leaf performs a part in the vital economy of the tree, and, when it falls, leaves behind some work accomplished. We are like autumn leaves, and every life now existing is the same life that lived in Adam, and that will live in some John Smith, in countless ages hence. Butler's "Analogy" has a chapter on the future life which is valueless now because it is a wrong induction from mistaken facts. Butler knew so little of natural history as to suggest that a crysalis is a dead caterpillar. He did not know that a man goes through metamorphoses as well as an insect, but completes them at birth.

After all, the best answer to "M." probably is, that there are no rational proofs of the immortality of man, of heaven and hell, of angels and devils, except those drawn from revelation. There is no other path of transition from the natural to the spiritual order. For it is the foremost axiom of philosophy that all knowledge of the natural order is relative. The truths of the spiritual order are absolute, not amenable to scientific tests, and must ever be objects of faith, not of ratiocination.

LIZZIE WEBSTER.

An Ornament to the Stage About to Embrace Matrimony.

The many Fort Wayne admirers of Miss Lizzie Webster, who played Gabriel in "Evangeline" in this city recently will be interested in the following from the Pittsburgh Dispatch:

It is now a well known fact that Miss Lizzie Webster, the dashing blonde, and one of the leading lights of the "Evangeline" combination, will in a few short weeks surrender her maiden freedom and become the wife of Mr. J. J. Nunnemacher, the present manager of the troupe—that is if the event has not already transpired, there being a rumor that the nuptials were celebrated about two weeks ago. At the close of this season Miss Webster retires from the stage. The lady is but twenty-three years of age, and is a native of Philadephia. Webster is her proper name. Three years ago she made her debut in a soubrette part at Wood's Museum. Chicago, remaining at that theatre until she became a member of the "Evangeline" party, when she met the gentleman who is soon to make her his wife. Mr. Nunnemacher is a young man only twenty-six years of age, is a partner in the "Evangeline" and "Surprise Party" troupes, built the Hamlin Opera House at Chicago, and is directing two amusement enterprises in Chicago. Notwithstanding the fact that he is such an extensive manager, Mr. Nunnemacher is of a modest disposition, and prefers the least possible notoriety about either his private or managerial affairs. When asked yesterday if the story of his coming marriage was true, he said frankly the soft impeachment could not be denied, but asked that just as little be said about it as possible. The lady's sentiments, as expressed, were exactly the same, and though after a few days the stage will lose one of its prettiest attractions, the request must be complied with.

TRY THEM.

Housewives who use Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts avoid disappointments often experienced by the use of the ordinary flavoring extracts. The personal attention of Steele & Price in superintending their laboratory, makes Dr. Price's Extracts so reliable.

Safety, efficiency and reliability are the three cardinal virtues of a remedy, whether in the hands of a physician or in those of the people at large. For the cure of all malarial or miasmatic diseases, such as chills and fever, or intermittent fever, dumb chills and chronic enlargement of the spleen, we have such a remedy in Dr. F. Wilhoft's Anti Periodic or Fever and Ague Tonic, the composition of which has been published by its proprietors, Wheelock, Finlay & Co., of New Orleans, and is approved by the medical profession, and for sale by all druggists.

The Blessing of Strong Nerves Is recoverable, not by the use of mineral sedative, but by a recourse to effectual tonic treatment. Opiates and the like should only be used as auxilliaries, and then as sparingly as possible. Vigorous nerves are quiet ones, and the most direct way to render them so is to reinforce the vital energies. That sterling invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will be found all-sufficient for this purpose, since it entirely removes impediments to thorough digestion and assimilation of the food, so that the body is insured its due amount of nourishment, and consequently of stamina. Rheumatic tendencies and affections of the kidneys and bladder are also counteracted by the bitters, which is besides a pleasant medicinal stimulant, infinitely purer than the raw excitants of commerce, which react injuriously upon the nervous system.

An Authority on Black Eye.—Harry Hill, the famous "Sport," is said to know more about black eyes than the brightest brunette in America. He has given and taken thousands in his time, and he says that the only thing which will remove them within twelve hours is Giles's Liniment Iodide Ammonia. Giles's Pills cure consumption.

WICKED FOR CLERGYMEN.

"I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergymen or other public men to be led into giving testimonials to quack doctors or vile stuffs called medicines, but when a really meritorious article is made up of common valuable remedies known to all, and that all physicians use and trust in daily, we should freely recommend it. I therefore cheerfully and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my friends, firmly believing they have no equal for family use. I will not be without them."

EDISON'S LIGHT.

What the Menlo Park Inventor Has Secured to Himself in the Two Patents Issued—The English Inventions.

(Special to the New York Herald.

Washington, April 25.—Edison's experiments in the creation and control of electric light took legal form and effect day before yesterday, when his patent papers for two kinds of electric lamps, both broadly being the same in principle and operation, were issued from the United States patent office. The first and most important of the two applications was filed October 15th, 1878. As usual with inventors, Edison claimed broadly in his first application the whole principle of governing the amount of current circulating in electric lamps for the purpose of modifying light. This covered all classes of electric lamps and gave Edison a claim for originality of invention, not only to a thermostatic regulator as a means of governing the circuit in a continuously incandescent conductor lamp, but also for governing the amount of current passing in a carbon arc lamp, a variety of lamps which he had held to be practically useless.

A CLAM REJECTED.

The claim for a thermostatic regulator for the latter class of lamps was rejected on October 31st, reference being cited to Alman's English patent of September, 1848. The subject matter of the patent cited as reference against Edison's broad claim was a thermostatic regulator for governing the movement of carbon points, and not for regulating the amount of current flowing over an incandescent light-giving body.

THE ENGLISH PATENT.

The regulator shown in the English patent consisted of a bar composed of two different metals, one of which has a greater capacity for expansion and contraction than the other, whereby this compound metal bar, when it is affected by the heat of the lamp, causes one of the carbon points to which it is attached, to be moved to a greater or less distance from the other carbon point. By this means the points are held at variable distances from each other and thereby greater space between them is obtained, which space affords a means of regulating the amount of current passing. The space between the carbon points affords a break in the electric circuit, and consequently if this break be increased or diminished the amount of current flowing will be inversely proportional to the resistance in the circuit. Therefore the hermostatic regulator, as applied to carbon arc lamps, was fully covered by this English patent, but was unlike in nature and means to the one employed by Edison.

EFFECT OF THE REJECTION.

The rejection of this claim, which is the only adverse action taken by the patent office upon either of these cases, appears, however, not to have affected his interests, experiments or expectations in the slightest degree, as he seems to have proceeded in his researches upon the theory that there was no utility in the carbon arc lamp, and he, therefore, made no effort to retain his claim, but modified his specification so as to yield the point in relation to a thermostatic regulator for carbon arc lamps. The carbon arc lamp is the oldest and most numerous class of electric lamps known. Light results in this class of lamps by the passage of an electrical current from one carbon point to another, the points being a short distance apart.

INCANDESCENT LAMPS.

The incandescent kind of lamps, which Edison shows and with which he deals exclusively, consists merely of a small metallic body, either as wire or thin sheets, which offer high resistance to the passage of the current of electricity. They are placed directly in said current and made a part of the circuit. By passing the current through the lamp it produces incandescence in the strips or wire, thereby furnishing a light-giving source.

EDISON'S SPECIALTY.

There has been a great many experiments and a number of English and American patents upon this class of lamps. Therefore it is not the lamp upon which Edison claims and receives his patent as original inventor, but upon the thermostatic regulator which is to control the flow of current by increasing or decreasing its volume through the wire or metal strips which are the light-giving body; but as the amount of current increases the light-giving body becomes more highly heated and expands a metal bar from which is suspended a switch lever. By a proper degree of heat this bar will become elongated by a predetermined degree of heat until it comes in contact with a metal point, thereby making a short circuit around the light-giving body. This short circuit, thus created, assumes the burden of the current of electricity when it becomes excessive and when sufficient to destroy or injure the lamp. This short circuit, automatically made by the heat of the lamp, is claimed by the inventor as the vital feature of the regulator, and, if successfully adopted by minor details, will, very likely, fulfill the expectations of Edison. The broad subject matter of the invention consists, then, in the incandescent conductor and a thermostatic regulator, and this claim is based upon the lamp above described.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE LAMP.

Edison, however, finds it expedient in adopting his new invention to modify the construction of the lamp which is above described by employing, instead of an expansive metal bar for operating the switch in the short circuit as an automatic regulator, the expansion of air within a sealed globe containing the light. The expansion of the air within the globe operating to press out the diaphragm situated in the bottom of the lamp, when the diaphragm is sufficiently expanded or pressed down by the rarified air in the globe a point on the under side of the diaphragm comes in contact with a stationary metallic point, thereby producing a short circuit to carry the burden of the current in case of an excessive amount, which produces exactly the same result as though the metallic bar instead of the glass globe were used.

It is understood that the construction of Edison's lamp and regulator is as complete as he expects to make it for some time, and that he is now turning his attention to the consideration of a magneto-electric machine which shall generate the amount of electricity required to make his lamp useful for practical and extended operation. If, however, he should desire to test to any extent the value of his invention as a useful illuminating power he will not necessarily have to wait for a machine of his own which shall be sufficient for the purpose of generating the electrical power desired. There are a large number of machines competent for that purpose. In fact, there are few subdivisions in the class of electricity in the patent office so complete and valuable as in magneto-electrical generating machines. Those of Gramme, Brush, Weston and Fuller are especially valuable and competent machines for that purpose, and of demonstrated merit.

NELLIE GRIMES'S DEATH.

Sliding Down Balusters for Eighteen Years and Falling off at Last.

[New York Sun.]

The six story commercial building at 133 Nassau street has a continuous stair case around four sides of a square. The balustrade is also continuovs, and is rounded at the corners. The janitress, a widow, Mrs. Grimes, and her five children, lived in rooms in the topmost story. Nellie was over five years old when her mother moved into the building eighteen years ago. She soon began sliding down the balusters. Her mother tried to dissuade her, but the girl persisted until she was as much at home on the balusters as on the stairs. She laughed at every suggestion of danger. Springing at full length upon the baluster, her feet downward, her hand on the slippery rail, she shot down like a flash. Year after year she slid down stairs until Saturday last, Mrs. Grimes started with Nellie to go down stairs from the top story. Nellie both slid and walked until the two had arrived at the top of the second story. Mrs. Grimes had just said, "Now, Nellie, dear, I wish you would not do that. You'll get hurt some time." But the girl mischievouslp sprang upon the balusters, and, sliding a short distance, lost her poise, and, with a shriek, toppled over and fell with a heavy thug. She was picked up unconscious, and on Sunday she died. She was buried yesterday. She was twenty-three years and six months of age.

SALE OF A CITY

Altoona, Pa., With Its Inhabitants, Likely to Be Knocked Down to the Highest Bidder for Indebtedness to the State.

[Inter-Ocean.]

The city of Altoona, in Blair county, Pa., is indebted to the state for corporation taxes amounting to $4,208.10. Proceedings against the city would have been begun some time ago but for the intervention of the attorney general. The state has a judment for the amount of the debt, and the authorities of the city were notified that unless the judgment was satisfied by to-day the city would be sold. There is no money at all in the city treasury, rnd no means of raising any, and Altoona, with its 20,000 inhabitants, will probably be knocked down to the highest bidder in a day or two.

Does Death End All?

To the Editor of the Sentinel:

Your correspondent "M." propounds the question, "Upon what rational grounds the belief in immortality can be held, aside from the historical evidence of the resurrection of Christ?"

It would not be fair to occupy so much of the space of a secular newspaper as an adequate reply requires. However, it may be suggested that the scientific fact of the indestructibility of matter (as distinguished from forms of matter) creates a presumption in favor of immortality. Again, science teaches that man has been a million years on the earth, and that it will be millions of years ere the sun's heat declines so as to render the continuance of the higher animal life on this planet impossible. By adding the past and future together, we find that the chain of human life, although not everlasting, is yet so very long as to be practically so. To exist for 10,000,000 years ought to satisfy any aspiration after immortality. But, in this sense, it is not the individual man, but rather mankind collectively, that is immortal. Every leaf performs a part in the vital economy of the tree, and, when it falls, leaves behind some work accomplished. We are like autumn leaves, and every life now existing is the same life that lived in Adam, and that will live in some John Smith, in countless ages hence. Butler's "Analogy" has a chapter on the future life which is valueless now because it is a wrong induction from mistaken facts. Butler knew so little of natural history as to suggest that a crysalis is a dead caterpillar. He did not know that a man goes through metamorphoses as well as an insect, but completes them at birth.

After all, the best answer to "M." probably is, that there are no rational proofs of the immortality of man, of heaven and hell, of angels and devils, except those drawn from revelation. There is no other path of transition from the natural to the spiritual order. For it is the foremost axiom of philosophy that all knowledge of the natural order is relative. The truths of the spiritual order are absolute, not amenable to scientific tests, and must ever be objects of faith, not of ratiocination. W.

Doctors are to guard human life and bring relief to the sick. So does Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup; it contains nothing injurious and is always reliable. To be had at all drug stores in our city. Price 25 cents.

LIZZIE WEBSTER.

An Ornament to the Stage About to Embrace Matrimony.

The many Fort Wayne admirers of Miss Lizzie Webster, who played Gabriel in "Evangeline" in this city recently will be interested in the following from the Pittsburgh Dispatch:

It is now a well known fact that Miss Lizzie Webster, the dashing blonde, and one of the leading lights of the "Evangeline" combination, will in a few short weeks surrender her maiden freedom and become the wife of Mr. J. J. Nunnemacher, the present manager of the troupe—that is if the event has not already transpired, there being a rumor that the nuptials were celebrated about two weeks ago. At the close of this season Miss Webster retires from the stage. The lady is but twenty-three years years of age, and is a native of Philadaphia. Websteris her proper name. Three years ago ahe made her debut in a soubrette part at Wood's Museum. Chicago, remaining at that theatre until she became a member of the "Evangeline" party, when she met the gentleman who is soon to make her his wife. Mr. Nunnemacher is a young man only twenty-six years of age, is a partner in the "Evangeline" and "Surprise Party" troupes, built the Hamlin Opera House at Chicago, and is directing two amusement enterprises in Chicago. Notwithstanding the fact that he is such an extensive manager, Mr. Nunnemacher is of a modest disposition, and prefers the least possible notoriety about either his private or managerial affairs. When asked yesterday if the story of his coming marriage was true, he said frankly the soft impeachment could not be denied, but asked that just as little be said about it as possible. The lady's sentiments, as expressed, were exactly the same, and though after a few days the stage will lose one of its prettiest attractions, the request must be complied with.

TRY THEM.

Housewives who use Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts avoid disappointments often experienced by the use of the ordinary flavoring extracts. The personal attention of Steele & Price in superintending their laboratory, makes Dr. Price's Extracts so reliable.

Safety, efficiency and reliability are the three cardinal virtues of a remedy, whether in the hands of a physician or in those of the people at large. For the cure of all malarial or miasmatic diseases, such as chills and fever, or intermittent fever, dumb chills and chronic enlargement of the spleen, we have such a remedy in Dr. F. Wilhoft's Anti Periodic or Fever and Ague Tonic, the composition of which has been published by its proprietors, Wheelock, Finlay & Co., of New Orleans, and is approved by the medical profession, and for sale by all druggists.

The Blessing of Strong Nerves

Is recoverable, not by the use of mineral sedative, but by a recourse to effectual tonic treatment. Opiates and the like should only be used as auxilliaries, and then as sparingly as possible. Vigorous nerves are quiet ones, and the most direct way to render them so is to reinforce the vital energies. That sterling invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will be found all-sufficient for this purpose, since it entirely removes impediments to thorough digestion and assimilation of the food, so that the body is insured its due amount of nourishment, and consequently of stamina. Rheumatic tendencies and affections of the kidneys and bladder are also counteracted by the bitters, which is besides a pleasant medicinal stimulant, infinitely purer than the raw excitants of commerce, which react injuriously upon the nervous system.

An Authority on Black Eye.—Harry Hill, the famous "Sport," is said to know more about black eyes than the brightest brunette in America. He has given and taken thousands in his time, and he says that the only thing which will remove them within twelve hours is Giles's Liniment Iodide Ammonia. Giles's Pills cure consumption.

WICKED FOR CLERGYMEN.

"I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergymen or other public men to be led into giving testimonials to quack doctors or vile stuffs called medicines, but when a really meritorious article is made up of common valuable remedies known to all, and that all physicians use and trust in daily, we should freely recommend it. I therefore cheerfully and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my friends, firmly believing they have no equal for family use. I will not be without them."

POLITICAL.

The Fight Over the Offices—A "Walk Away" for the Democratic Ticket.

There are few new developments in the local political situation since yesterday. It is generally conceded that the democratic ticket is a strong one, and leading republicans freely confess they that can't beat one side of it, which is the plain truth. Every effort is being made to form a combination, but it doesn't look at all favorable.

Leading republicans, such as W. H. Withers, Robt. Stratton and others, concede the impossibility of defeating Zollinger, and favor the nomination of no ticket excepting for water works trustees. The committee appointed by the republican caucus will recommend to-night the nomination of Geo. H. Wilson for mayor and Henry Tons for assessor. They suggest that Barton and Trentman be given a clean field. Hugh Diehl is talked of for marshal, but the objection is made that he is not an orthodox republican, having supported the regular democratic nominees last fall. For water works trustees it is proposed to nominate Niel McLachlan for three years, Chas. McCulloch (the democratic nominee), for two years, and Geo. W. Bracken ridge (a democrat) for one year.

The greenbackers will hold a convention at St. Charles Hall to-night. It is proposed to nominate Constitution Haiber for mayor, Judge Ludlum of the Journal for clerk and Frank Falker for marshal. Judge Ludlum says the ticket will carry Adams township by a large majority.

The seventh ward independents met last night to nominate a candidate for the council. Jim Graham made a fierce speech against "gold bugs" and "moneyed men." He was opposed to Mr. Mohr (whom he admitted to be an A No. 1 man), but neglected to say that he was one of the first men to ask Mohr to run for the council. He was nominated by acclamation but refused to accept, and a vote resulted: Thos. Craig, 30; H. Kellogg, 13; John Muddox, 12. Mr. Craig was declared the nominee.

The opponents of Mr. Mohr are circulating the absurd report that Mr. Mohr said one dollar a day was enough for any mechanic. Of course he never said anything of the kind. His father is a mechanic, and Mr. Mohr is not the man to make such a foolish remark.

G. W. Brackenridge tells the SENTINEL that he is not a candidate for water works trustee.

Maurice Cody goes to the republican organ with a card charging M. Hamilton with trickery. Cody says he did not know Hamilton was a candidate until a few moments before the polls opened. Hamilton's announcement was printed in the SENTINEL and News of the previous day, as Cody well knows.

J. H. Simonson says he is not a candidate for councilman from the second ward, and would not accept the office.

The News, speaking of the water works nominations, says:

> To-day, the nominations having been made, we submit that the people generally feel that a death blow has been given to the project unless a citizen's meeting will yet undo the wrong by naming a board of trustees that will be acceptable to the voters of the city.

The News endorses Mr. McCulloch, and was the first paper to suggest Mr. Bosecker's name. Thus we have two out of the three democratic candidates with the endorsement of the News and yet it denounces the ticket as a whole.

BREVITIES.

No police court.

"The Danites" next Monday evening.

The Lingards leave for Canada to-night.

Mason Long returned from Michigan yesterday.

Seats for "The Danites" can now be secured at Woodworth's.

The united singers of the city had a very pleasant ball, at Arion Hall, last night.

Miss Carrie Johnson will give readings at Harmony Hall on the evening of May 6th.

Mrs. E. P. Williams left this afternoon for a visit to her parents at Elizabeth, N. J.

A little girl named Felger had a small tumor removed from her left hand this morning by Dr. Rosenthal.

C. F. Yergens, formerly of this city, is now connected with the dress goods establishment of Messinger, Fisher & Co., of New York.

C. J. Whitney, manager of the Detroit Opera House, and one of the amusement princes of the west, was a guest of the Robinson House to-day.

If subscribers not getting their papers will send word by postal card to this office we will see to it that they are delivered regularly and promptly.

The remains of Representative Clark, of Iowa, passed through this city on No. 7, Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, last night, destined for his late home. The remains were accompanied by the house committee, consisting of Messrs. Price, Ryan, Hatch, Neal, Dunnel and Cook.

D. N. Foster has rented the Swift mansion.

M. E. Argo has returned from Indianapolis.

Mrs. O. E. Gorham, of Chicago, is in the city.

C. E. Pond is in the city, visiting his sister, Mrs. Montgomery Hamilton.

Mrs. Col. Hill, of Logansport, is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cheney.

A dispatch from Chicago states that Mr. C. E. Gorham's health is greatly improved.

H. J. Simonton has removed from Perry township to this city, and will reside on Archer avenue.

D. G. Brown, general agent of the Champion Iron Fence Company, of Kenton, O., is in the city.

H. S. Bigham, who represents that sterling democratic newspaper, the Indianapolis Sentinel, was in the city to-day.

At a wedding in the east end yesterday the guests consumed twenty-five kegs of beer, and twenty-five gallons of wine.

Any person wanting to subscribe for the SENTINEL can do so by putting his name, street and number on a postal card, directed to SENTINEL office.

Monroeville is much excited over a sensational discovery made by some small boys who were in the woods gathering wild flowers. The discovery places well known people in a bad light.

Sheriff Munson returned from Indianapolis last night, and left for Michigan City to-day with Wm. Butler, who is under sentence of two years in the penitentiary for grand larceny.

The Bluffton tow factory was burned down Monday night. Loss, $2,000; no insurance. The factory will be rebuilt within sixty days. Fifteen men were thrown out of employment by the fire.

Among the Antioch items in the Huntington Herald is the following: "A fellow who claimed to be a 'Fort Wayne democrat, be jabers,' made his appearance in this place one day last week in a state of beastly intoxication, and from the manner in which he shrieked about the 'fraudulent president,' we concluded that he was an editor of some local democratic paper in disguise." The fellow is undoubtedly a radical in disguise, trying to bring odium upon the democratic party.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE DANITES.

The great dramatic event of the season, the production of "The Danites," by J. H. Haverly's original company, including McKee Rankin and Kitty Blanchard, will take place at the Academy next Monday evening.

"The Danites" wherever produced has been applauded to the echo by cultured and enthusiastic audiences, and at many fashionable theatres numbers were nightly turned away unable to gain even standing room. And the management confidently expect that the critical and intelligent public will endorse the verdict that "The Danites" is the American play so long sought after at last found.

Seats can now be secured at C. B. Woodworth & Co.'s drug store.

THE COURTS.

SUPERIOR

JURY TRIALS.

John Carleton vs. Wabash Railway Company, the jury, after fifteen hours' deliberation, returned a verdict for plaintiff for $40.

Chas. E. Freese vs. H. G. Wagner, on trial by jury.

CIRCUIT.

Delia Schoerpf vs. Anthony Schoerpf et al., report of distribution approved; deed ordered reported and approved.

Attempted Suicide.

Several days ago a well known citizen, formerly an active politician, attempted to commit suicide at his home on Montgomery street, by taking poison. He was saved by a vigorous application of the stomach pump. The matter was hushed up, but the facts have finally leaked out. Domestic infelicity and general bad luck are the supposed causes of the rash act.

"Fort Wayne Ahead Again."

W. H. Myers, the well-known contractor of this city, was yesterday awarded the contract for constructing the new courthouse at Rockville, Park county, Ind., for $69,000, after a heated contest. The plans were drawn by Tolan & Son, of this city, whose designs were accepted over those of several competitors. Fort Wayne against the world.

Grand Millinery Opening.

Miss Mary B. Schilling is now having her grand opening of spring millinery goods at her well known and popular establishment, No. 31 East Main street. Her stock this year is larger and more varied than ever before, and she offers her goods at rare bargains. She has all the latest styles and all the new eastern novelties. Ladies, go and see her assortment. The opening continues all day to-morrow.

Leave your names for the DAILY SENTINEL at the office, No. 107 Calhoun street. The best paper in the city; only 25 cents per month.

Mint juleps, the first of the season, at Chas. Goodman's, 6 East Columbia street.

THE RAILROADS.

A change of time will be made on the Muncie road next Sunday.

General Superintendent Andrews, of the Wabash, was in town to-day.

The Wabash Railway, including its branches, is over a thousand miles in length.

A train of tobacco passed through the city on the Pittsburgh road this morning.

Beginning yesterday the employes of the Wabash shops will work ten hours per day.

Nearly 250,000 shares of Wabash stock changed hands on Tuesday. The price paid was 32½.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: Wanted, about a hundred more cars at once to meet the unusual activity in forwarding grain over the Fort Wayne road.

Chauncey Morris has resigned his position as master mechanic of the Wabash Railway on account of ill health. O. J. Wilson, long connected with the company, will act as master mechanic pro tem.

The Fort Wayne, Jackson and Saginaw returns for taxation are on file in the auditor's office. The value of the real estate in this county is placed at $37,440.35. The rolling stock owned by the company is estimated at $84,675, of which $46,369.18 is to be taxed in this state. The personal property in Allen county is listed at $500. The road is ninety-seven miles long, of which fifty-three miles are in Indiana.

The stockholders of the Delphos, Bluffton and Frankfort Narrow Gauge Railroad met at Bluffton on Monday, and cast 839½ votes for and 169 votes against consolidation with the other narrow gauge roads. The new company is called the Toledo, Delphos and Burlington Railroad Company, and is formed by the consolidation of the Toledo, Delphos and Indianapolis Railroad Company, the Toledo and Maumee Narrow Gauge Company, the Delphos and Kokomo Railway Company, and the Delphos, Bluffton and Frankfort Railroad Company.

Toledo people are greatly excited over the rumored intention of the Wabash folks to extend their line to Detroit. The Commercial says: "A representative of the Detroit Free Press was in the city yesterday and had an interview with Gen. Hopkins of the Wabash Railway on the proposed extension of the road to Detroit. After the interview he was heard to remark that Mr. Hopkins treated him very cordially, but that he did not know anything more than when he left Detroit." The Commercial also remarks that "Detroit may come to Toledo to meet the Wabash, but the Wabash is not going to Detroit."

The Wabash is still "crowding the mourners." The Indianapolis Journal rises to explain, thus: The Wabash Railway has long been a disturbing element in the western system, owing principally to its peculiar location. Speaking of this road, the Railway Review says: Managers of competing lines have looked upon it as a sort of Ishmael in its traffic relations, and all combinations which have not taken it into the account have found out their mistake. Just now it is playing the most important part in the southwestern war. It is acting in unison with the St. Louis lines, and as it extends to Toledo, while the Chicago roads have no ally east of that city, the latter are placed at a disadvantage. The Wabash is carrying freight from New York to the Missouri River, via. St. Louis, at the same rates which are charged from New York to Chicago.

Connecticut's Tramp Law.

[Hartford Times.]

The "tramp law" passed by the recent legislature makes sweeping work of it. Even the street organ grinders are quietly tapped on the shoulder by the police, and told to shut up and move on. It will be a sad loss to the children, if to nobody else; but grown persons can contrive to bear up under the affliction.

Value Received.

[Columbia City Post.]

The Fort Wayne Gazette still takes much political comfort in publishing extracts from the Okolona (Miss.) States. Kernan is giving the radicals value received for the money they are paying him.

Short Cut to Fame.

[Chicago News.]

There are at least two easy and sure ways of acquiring notoriety in the United States, to-wit, by marrying somebody you ought not to marry, and not marrying somebody you ought to marry.

POLITICAL.

The Fight Over the Offices—A "Walk Away" for the Democratic Ticket.

There are few new developments in the local political situation since yesterday. It is generally conceded that the democratic ticket is a strong one, and leading republicans freely confess they that can't beat one side of it, which is the plain truth. Every effort is being made to form a combination, but it doesn't look at all favorable.

Leading republicans, such as W. H. Withers, Robt. Stratton and others, concede the impossibility of defeating Zollinger, and favor the nomination of no ticket excepting for water works trustees. The committee appointed by the republican caucus will recommend to-night the nomination of Geo. H. Wilson for mayor and Henry Tons for assessor. They suggest that Barton and Trentman be given a clean field. Hugh Diehl is talked of for marshal, but the objection is made that he is not an orthodox republican, having supported the regular democratic nominees last fall. For water works trustees it is proposed to nominate Niel McLachlan for three years, Chas. McCulloch (the democratic nominee), for two years, and Geo. W. Bracken ridge (a democrat) for one year.

The greenbackers will hold a convention at St. Charles Hall tonight. It is proposed to nominate Constitution Haiber for mayor, Judge Ludlum of the Journal for clerk and Frank Falker for marshal. Judge Ludlum says the ticket will carry Adams township by a large majority.

The seventh ward independents met last night to nominate a candidate for the council. Jim Graham made a fierce speech against "gold bugs" and "moneyed men." He was opposed to Mr. Mohr (whom he admitted to be an A No. 1 man), but neglected to say that he was one of the first men to ask Mohr to run for the council. He was nominated by acclamation but refused to accept, and a vote resulted: Thos. Craig, 30; H. Kellogg, 13; John Maddox, 12. Mr. Craig was declared the nominee.

The opponents of Mr. Mohr are circulating the absurd report that Mr. Mohr said one dollar a day was enough for any mechanic. Of course he never said anything of the kind. His father is a mechanic, and Mr. Mohr is not the man to make such a foolish remark.

G. W. Brackenridge tells the SENTINEL that he is not a candidate for water works trustee.

Maurice Cody goes to the republican organ with a card charging M. Hamilton with trickery. Cody says he did not know Hamilton was a candidate until a few moments before the polls opened. Hamilton's announcement was printed in the SENTINEL and News of the previous day, as Cody well knows.

J. H. Simonson says he is not a candidate for councilman from the second ward, and would not accept the office.

The News, speaking of the water works nominations, says:

To-day, the nominations having been made, we submit that the people generally feel that a death blow has been given to the project unless a citizen's meeting will yet undo the wrong by naming a board of trustees that will be acceptable to the voters of the city.

The News endorses Mr. McCulloch, and was the first paper to suggest Mr. Boseker's name. Thus we have two out of the three democratic candidates with the endorsement of the News and yet it denounces the ticket as a whole.

BREVITIES.

No police court.

"The Danites" next Monday evening.

The Lingards leave for Canada tonight.

Seats for "The Danites" can now be secured at Woodworth's.

A little girl named Felger had a small tumor removed from her left hand this morning by Dr. Rosenthal.

C. F. Yergens, formerly of this city, is now connected with the dress goods establishment of Messinger, Fisher & Co., of New York.

C. J. Whitney, manager of the Detroit Opera House, and one of the amusement princes of the west, was a guest of the Robinson House to-day.

If subscribers not getting their papers will send word by postal card to this office we will see to it that they are delivered regularly and promptly.

The remains of Representative Clark, of Iowa, passed through this city on No. 7, Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, last night, destined for his late home. The remains were accompanied by the house committee, consisting of Messrs. Price, Ryan, Hatch, Neal, Dunnel and Cook.

D. N. Foster has rented the Swift mansion.

M. E. Argo has returned from Indianapolis.

Mrs. C. E. Gorham, of Chicago, is in the city.

C. E. Pond is in the city, visiting his sister, Mrs. Montgomery Hamilton.

Mrs. Col. Hill, of Logansport, is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cheney.

A dispatch from Chicago states that Mr. C. E. Gorham's health is greatly improved.

H. J. Simonton has removed from Perry township to this city, and will reside on Archer avenue.

D. G. Brown, general agent of the Champion Iron Fence Company, of Kenton, O., is in the city.

H. S. Bigham, who represents that sterling democratic newspaper, the Indianapolis Sentinel, was in the city today.

At a wedding in the east end yesterday the guests consumed twenty-five kegs of beer, and twenty-five gallons of wine.

Any person wanting to subscribe for the SENTINEL can do so by putting his name, street and number on a postal card, directed to SENTINEL office.

Monroeville is much excited over a sensational discovery made by some small boys who were in the woods gathering wild flowers. The discovery places well known people in a bad light.

Sheriff Munson returned from Indianapolis last night, and left for Michigan City to-day with Wm. Butler, who is under sentence of two years in the penitentiary for grand larceny.

The Bluffton tow factory was burned down Monday night. Loss, $2,000; no insurance. The factory will be rebuilt within sixty days. Fifteen men were thrown out of employment by the fire.

Among the Antioch items in the Huntington Herald is the following: "A fellow who claimed to be a 'Fort Wayne democrat, be jabers,' made his appearance in this place one day last week in a state of beastly intoxication, and from the manner in which he shrieked about the 'fraudulent president,' we concluded that he was an editor of some local democratic paper in disguise." The fellow is undoubtedly a radical in disguise, trying to bring odium upon the democratic party.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE DANITES.

The great dramatic event of the season, the production of "The Danites," by J. H. Haverly's original company, including McKee Rankin and Kitty Blanchard, will take place at the Academy next Monday evening.

"The Danites" wherever produced has been applauded to the echo by cultured and enthusiastic audiences, and at many fashionable theatres numbers were nightly turned away unable to gain even standing room. And the management confidently expect that the critical and intelligent public will endorse the verdict that "The Danites" is the American play so long sought after—at last found.

Seats can now be secured at C. B. Woodworth & Co.'s drug store.

THE COURTS.

SUPERIOR

JURY TRIALS.

CIRCUIT.

Delia Schoerpf vs. Anthony Schoerpf et al., report of distribution approved; deed ordered reported and approved.

Attempted Suicide.

Several days ago a well known citizen, formerly an active politician, attempted to commit suicide at his home on Montgomery street, by taking poison. He was saved by a vigorous application of the stomach pump. The matter was hushed up, but the facts have finally leaked out. Domestic infelicity and general bad luck are the supposed causes of the rash act.

"Fort Wayne Ahead Again."

W. H. Myers, the well-known contractor of this city, was yesterday awarded the contract for constructing the new courthouse at Rockville, Park county, Ind., for $69,000, after a heated contest. The plans were drawn by Tolan & Son, of this city, whose designs were accepted over those of several competitors. Fort Wayne against the world.

Grand Millinery Opening.

Miss Mary B. Schilling is now having her grand opening of spring millinery goods at her well known and popular establishment, No. 31 East Main street. Her stock this year is larger and more varied than ever before, and she offers her goods at rare bargains. She has all the latest styles and all the new eastern novelties. Ladies, go and see her assortment. The opening continues all day to-morrow.

Leave your names for the DAILY SENTINEL at the office, No. 107 Calhoun street. The best paper in the city; only 25 cents per month.

Mint juleps, the first of the season, at Chas. Goodman's, 6 East Columbia street.

THE RAILROADS.

A change of time will be made on the Muncie road next Sunday.

General Superintendent Andrews, of the Wabash, was in town to-day.

The Wabash Railway, including its branches, is over a thousand miles in length.

A train of tobacco passed through the city on the Pittsburgh road this morning.

Beginning yesterday the employes of the Wabash shops will work ten hours per day.

Nearly 250,000 shares of Wabash stock changed hands on Tuesday. The price paid was 32½.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: Wanted, about a hundred more cars at once to meet the unusual activity in forwarding grain over the Fort Wayne road.

Chauncey Morris has resigned his position as master mechanic of the Wabash Railway on account of ill health. O. J. Wilson, long connected with the company, will act as master mechanic pro tem.

The Fort Wayne, Jackson and Saginaw returns for taxation are on file in the auditor's office. The value of the real estate in this county is placed at $37,440.35. The rolling stock owned by the company is estimated at $84,675, of which $46,369.18 is to be taxed in this state. The personal property in Allen county is listed at $500. The road is ninety-seven miles long, of which fifty-three miles are in Indiana.

The stockholders of the Delphos, Bluffton and Frankfort Narrow Gauge Railroad met at Bluffton on Monday, and cast 839½ votes for and 169 votes against consolidation with the other narrow gauge roads. The new company is called the Toledo, Delphos and Burlington Railroad Company, and is formed by the consolidation of the Toledo, Delphos and Indianapolis Railroad Company, the Toledo and Maumee Narrow Gauge Company, the Delphos and Kokomo Railway Company, and the Delphos, Bluffton and Frankfort Railroad Company.

Toledo people are greatly excited over the rumored intention of the Wabash folks to extend their line to Detroit. The Commercial says: "A representative of the Detroit Free Press was in the city yesterday and had an interview with Gen. Hopkins of the Wabash Railway on the proposed extension of the road to Detroit. After the interview he was heard to remark that Mr. Hopkins treated him very cordially, but that he did not know anything more than when he left Detroit." The Commercial also remarks that "Detroit may come to Toledo to meet the Wabash, but the Wabash is not going to Detroit."

The Wabash is still "crowding the mourners." The Indianapolis Journal rises to explain, thus: The Wabash Railway has long been a disturbing element in the western system, owing principally to its peculiar location. Speaking of this road, the Railway Review says: Managers of competing lines have looked upon it as a sort of Ishmael in its traffic relations, and all combinations which have not taken it into the account have found out their mistake. Just now it is playing the most important part in the southwestern war. It is acting in unison with the St. Louis lines, and as it extends to Toledo, while the Chicago roads have no ally east of that city, the latter are placed at a disadvantage. The Wabash is carrying freight from New York to the Missouri River, via St. Louis, at the same rates which are charged from New York to Chicago.

Connecticut's Tramp Law.

[Hartford Times.]

The "tramp law" passed by the recent legislature makes sweeping work of it. Even the street organ grinders are quietly tapped on the shoulder by the police, and told to shut up and move on. It will be a sad loss to the children, if to nobody else; but grown persons can contrive to bear up under the affliction.

Value Received.

[Columbia City Post.]

The Fort Wayne Gazette still takes much political comfort in publishing extracts from the Okolona (Miss.) States. Kernan is giving the radicals value received for the money they are paying him.

Short Cut to Fame.

[Chicago News.]

There are at least two easy and sure ways of acquiring notoriety in the United States, to-wit, by marrying somebody you ought not to marry, and not marrying somebody you ought to marry.
